

Why Managed Service?

Outsourcing your technology with hosted VoIP services can provide significant benefit to your bottom-line. By contracting VoIP services you can reduce your man-power for network engineering service, avoid an upfront capital expenditure and reduce your ongoing cost of operations. A sudden change in your traffic situation can be accommodated quickly with no capital expense or anxious waiting for the expected traffic to materialize. Outsourcing also provides you a service partner that has the expertise, experience and equipment to manage the technical aspects of service delivery permitting you to focus on your business.

VXRoutes - Managed Services

Opportunities in the VoIP market are expanding rapidly. At the same time competitive pressures and regulatory changes require a quick response to stay in the game. For the small to medium sized Telecom Service Operators (TSO) these challenges are significant. Whether you're an established TSO or just starting in the business there is a need to regularly review and adjust your business plan.

An important aspect of your business is the technology choices that you make to support your business goals. Technology is a two edged sword, it can bring opportunity if the choice matches the market direction or it can hold you back if the market moves in a different direction. Traffic volumes can change unexpectedly in the wholesale business from day to day. The expansion equipment you purchased yester day may become excess capacity tomorrow tying up your capital and creating overhead.
